GEOGRAPHY

The Republic of Uzbekistan is situated in the middle part of central Asia between two rivers, the Amudarya and Syrdarya. The Turan Lowland lies to the north-west and the Tien-Shan and Pamir-Alay mountain ranges are located in the south-east of the territory. The Kyzyl-Kum Desert defines the northern part of the country. The country has five states as neighbours: Afghanistan in the south, Kazakhstan in the north and north-west, Kyrgyzstan in the north-east, Turkmenistan in the south-west and Tajikistan in the south-east.

The climate in the Republic of Uzbekistan is continental, with mild winters and long hot summers. The northern part of the country is temperate, but the far south falls into the sub-torrid zone, where drought, an abundance of heat and light, and a high sun during parts of the year are inherent features. The coldest month is January. The average temperature in December is -8°C in the north and 0°C in the south, though temperatures in the north can reach -25°C and lower. The hottest month is July. The average temperature in summer exceeds 35°C and on some days and temperatures may reach 45°C or higher. The most pleasant time for visiting Uzbekistan is in the spring, from March to early June, and in the autumn, from September to early November.

FOOD

Uzbek cuisine cannot be described and has to be tasted. Fruits and vegetables grown under the oriental sun are prominent. There are around 100 variants of Uzbek plov, the national dish. Plov is often made with meat, rice, onions, and carrots, though it is prepared in a different way in every region. Overall, there are over one thousand dishes in the Uzbek cuisine.

INDEPENDENCE

Uzbekistan declared its independence from the USSR on 31 August 1991 at an extraordinary session of the Supreme Council of the country. On 2 March 1992, Uzbekistan joined the United Nations Organisation as an equal member and joined the Helsinki process by signing the Final Act of the Summit for Security and Cooperation.

Today, independent Uzbekistan is also a member of leading economic and financial organisations such as the World Bank, Asian Development Bank, Islamic Development Bank and a number of other prestigious international organisations. The interest shown by partners in developing relationships with Uzbekistan is explained not only by the great potential of Uzbekistan’s natural resources, but also by the effectiveness of its economic policy.

3 – FOREIGN INVESTMENT

Uzbekistan has adopted a policy of import substitution and export orientation.

A multiple exchange rate system and highly over-regulated trade regime have led to both import and export declines since 1996, although imports have declined more than exports since the government squeezed imports to maintain hard currency reserves. High tariffs and border closures imposed in the summer and autumn of 2002 led to massive decreases in imports of both consumer products and capital equipment.

Uzbekistan's traditional trade partners are the CIS states, notably Russia, Ukraine and Kazakhstan, and the other central Asian countries. Non-CIS partners have been increasing in importance in recent years, with Korea, China, Japan, Malaysia and Turkey being the most active. In 2015 and at the beginning of 2016, Uzbekistan greeted a number of high-level officials from Russia, China, United States of America, South Korea, Kazakhstan, India, Japan and other countries. During these visits the parties discussed potential cooperation and investment opportunities.

REASONS FOR INVESTING

- Political and economic stability. Uzbekistan is a state where representatives of more than a hundred ethnic groups and dozens of religions live in peace and concord. Since its independence, Uzbekistan has created a broad spectrum of legal guarantees and preferences for foreign investors, developed integral system of measures on encouragement of activity of enterprises with foreign investments.
- Favourable Investment Environment and Tax Policy. The state guarantees and protects the rights of foreign investors who carry out investment activity within the Republic of Uzbekistan. In the last years, the Government has pursued consistent policy on significant reduction of tax burden for both legal entities and individuals.
- One of the fastest growing economies since at least 2010. Uzbekistan is considered one of the 10 top fastest growing economies by IMF, World Bank and other global institutions. Whereas in 2000 the share of industrial production in GDP of the country comprised totally 14.2%, in 2010 this indicator reached 24%, share of transport and communications accordingly 7.7 and 12.4%, share of services increased from 37% up to 49%, while share of agriculture decreased from 30.1% down to 17.5%.

4 – SETTING UP A BUSINESS

A foreign legal entity may establish a representative office to represent its interests in Uzbekistan.

A representative office is a subdivision of a foreign legal entity and is not entitled to conduct any business activity which would result in income being generated in Uzbekistan. A representative office acts on the basis of a 'Regulation' (similar to a charter or company by-laws) and is managed by an individual authorised by the parent company under a power of attorney.

A branch is another type of subdivision of a legal entity in a geographic area other than where the head office is located, which may fulfil all or part of the functions of its parent company, including income-generating business activity. At the present time, however, it is practically impossible to establish a branch of a foreign entity in Uzbekistan. This is mainly due to the absence of the necessary by-laws and other implementing regulations dealing with the process of registering a branch of a foreign legal entity.

The following types of commercial legal entities may be formed under Uzbek law:

- Joint stock companies
- Limited liability companies and additional liability companies
- General business partnerships and limited business partnerships
- Production cooperatives
- Private enterprises and unitary (state) enterprises.

The legal entities most commonly used by foreign businesses for entering the local market are described below.

JOINT STOCK COMPANY

GENERAL

A joint stock company (JSC) is a legal entity which provides its shareholders with limited liability to the extent of the value of their shareholding. Shareholders who have not fully paid for their shares bear joint and several liability for the JSC's obligations to the extent of the unpaid portion of the value of their shares. A JSC may be either open or closed. The minimum number of founders of an open JSC is unrestricted, while a closed JSC may be formed by no fewer than three and no more than 50 persons.

Shareholders of an open JSC may freely dispose of their shares without the consent of other shareholders. An open JSC may have a public subscription for shares and sell them freely, in compliance with the JSC Law. Alternatively, an open JSC may have a closed subscription for shares, except in cases where such a closed subscription is limited by the company charter or by the JSC Law. Shares in a closed JSC may only be issued to founders or to a predetermined group of people. The number of shareholders in a closed JSC may not exceed 50. The transfer of shares in a closed JSC is restricted and shares may not be offered to the public. Shareholders in a closed JSC must first offer any shares they wish to sell to the other shareholders or to the JSC itself, as provided for in the company charter.

LIMITED LIABILITY COMPANY

GENERAL

A limited liability company (LLC) is a company established by one or more individuals or legal entities with a charter capital divided into participatory interests, the size of which is determined by its foundation documents. In contrast to a closed JSC, participatory interests in an LLC are not securities. The foundation documents of an LLC established by two or more participants include the foundation agreement and the company charter. If an LLC is established by only one participant, its foundation document is the company charter.

The participants in an LLC are not liable for the LLC's obligations and they only bear the risk of losses connected with the company's activities up to the limit of the value of their personal contributions. Participants in the company who have not paid up their contributions in full are jointly and severally liable for the LLC's obligations to the extent of the unpaid part of the contribution of each of the participants. The liability of the company is limited to the extent of its assets.

CAPITAL

The charter capital cannot be less than 40 minimum monthly wages (MMW), approximately USD 1,500. Each of the participants must pay at least 30% of their declared charter capital contributions prior to the registration of the company, with the remainder to be paid within one year.

MANAGEMENT

The supreme management body of an LLC is the general meeting of participants (GMP). The LLC Law stipulates that certain matters are within the exclusive competence of the GMP, which mainly covers business, financial, management and structural issues. The meeting is convened at least once a year. Participants jointly holding in excess of 10% of votes have the right to demand an extraordinary GMP at any time and for any reason. For most decisions, a simple majority of the participants of the LLC is sufficient. A qualified majority vote of two-thirds of the participants is required for issues of high priority such as the defining the main activities of the LLC. A unanimous vote is required for the establishment of other legal entities, branches or representative offices.

An LLC is required to have a director (chief executive officer) or a management board (collective executive body) responsible for conducting the day-to-day management of the company. The director or members of the board are elected at the GMP. The scope of the authority of the director/management board is to be specified in the foundation documents of the company. In contrast to a JSC, there is no mandatory requirement for establishing a supervisory board in an LLC. However, an LLC may have a supervisory board if this is provided for in the foundation documents. In addition, the company is prohibited from issuing securities.

AUDIT COMMISSION, INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL AUDIT

The audit (or revision) commission or an auditor has the right to monitor the financial activity of the director (or directorate) and the members of the supervisory board (if applicable) of an LLC. The charter of an LLC may provide for an external auditor not connected with the company or with its shareholders to act in place of the audit commission. An LLC with more than 15 participants must have the audit commission (or an auditor). The members of the supervisory board (if applicable), the director or the directorate cannot be selected as members of the audit commission (or as an auditor) of an LLC.

The members of the commission are normally selected from the participants of the GMP. Nevertheless, a person not connected with the company or with the participants of an LLC may also be selected as a member of the audit commission or as an auditor of an LLC. The number of members of the audit commission ought to be specified in the company charter.

The audit commission normally confirms the annual report and accounts of an LLC before their approval by the GMP. In addition, an LLC having a balance value of more than UZS 1 billion must have an internal audit service. An internal audit service audits and monitors the operations of the executive bodies of the LLC and its branches and representative offices by checking business and financial documents. The internal audit service is accountable to the supervisory board of the LLC and carries out its activity in accordance with the charter and corporate regulations of the LLC, together with government regulations.

Where the state has more than a 50% shareholding in an LLC, an external auditor not connected with the company or with its participants and nominated by The State Committee of the Republic of Uzbekistan for privatization, de-monopolization and development of competition, must be appointed for the purposes of the audits of the annual financial reports and accounts. Other LLCs may also engage the services of an external auditor at their own initiative.

ADDITIONAL LIABILITY COMPANY

An additional liability company (ALC) is a company established by one or more individuals or legal entities with a charter capital divided into participatory interests which are not securities. The foundation documents of an ALC are the same as for an LLC ie a foundation agreement and charter (or only the charter where an ALC is established by one person).

An ALC has virtually the same organisational structure as an LLC. The main difference relates to the liability of the participants. Participants in an ALC have broader liabilities in comparison to an LLC, where liability is limited to the value of the participants' contributions. In contrast to an LLC, the foundation documents of an ALC may provide for the joint and several liabilities of its participants to be a multiple of their capital contributions. The multiple must be the same for all participants. If one of the participants becomes insolvent (bankrupt), liability for the company's obligations is shared among the other participants in proportion to their contributions unless the company's foundation documents provide otherwise.

PARTNERSHIPS

GENERAL BUSINESS PARTNERSHIP

A general business partnership (GBP) is a partnership whose partners, in accordance with their agreement, engage in business activity on behalf of the partnership and are jointly and severally liable for its obligations to the extent of the partnership assets.

LIMITED BUSINESS PARTNERSHIP

A limited business partnership (LBP) is a partnership in which there are one or more limited partners (contributors) who do not participate in the partnership business and who bear the risk of losses connected with the partnership activities only to the extent of their contributions. In addition, an LBP may have partners who are engaged in the business on behalf of the partnership and are liable for the obligations of the partnership to the extent of its assets. A person may only be a partner in one partnership, GBP or LBP. However, a limited partner in a LBP can be a limited partner in other LBPs.

CHARTER CAPITAL AND FOUNDATION DOCUMENTS

The foundation document for both forms of partnership is a foundation agreement. In both cases, the charter capital of a GBP or an LBP may not be less than MMW 50.

PARTNERS' RIGHTS

A partner may leave either a GBP or an LBP established for a fixed term only on reasonable grounds (as defined in the foundation agreement) and may leave a partnership established for a non-fixed term only with three months advance notice.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

GENERAL

A new organisational structure for conducting business, known as a private enterprise, was first introduced in 2003 under the Law On Private Enterprise. A private enterprise is a commercial entity which is founded and managed by an individual. The foundation document is a charter approved by the owner.

Current legislation provides for additional liability to attach to an owner of a private enterprise with respect to the obligations of the private enterprise in circumstances where it does not have sufficient assets to meet its debts. There is no prohibition on a foreigner establishing this type of entity. However, a private enterprise founded by a foreign individual would not qualify for the privileges granted to other enterprises with foreign investments

CHARTER CAPITAL AND MANAGEMENT OF PRIVATE ENTERPRISES

There is no legislative minimum charter capital amount for private enterprises. The charter capital is determined by the owner him/herself and can be formed by contributions of money, securities or any other assets which have monetary value.

NAVOI FREE INDUSTRIAL ECONOMIC ZONE (FIEZ)

On 2 December 2008, in accordance with a decree of the president of the Republic of Uzbekistan, the Navoi free industrial economic zone (NavoiFIEZ) was established in the Navoi region, one of the most developed industrial centres of Uzbekistan.

Offering foreign investors a wide range of opportunities for doing business and endowing them with important competitive advantages initially, the NavoiFIEZ provides all the necessary conditions for the establishment of industrial complexes with full production cycles from raw materials to the manufacturing of finished goods.

TYPES OF ACTIVITIES

Priority is given to the establishment of a wide range of facilities for manufacturing of high-tech and globally competitive products using the introduction of modern high-performance equipment and machinery, manufacturing lines and modules, as well as innovative technologies in the following industries and sectors:

- Production of electrical goods and telecommunication equipment
- Production of machinery and instrument-making products and component parts for cars
- Production of pharmaceutical products and medical equipment
- Foodstuff processing and packaging
- Production of plastic and polymeric goods.

The body coordinating and regulating the activity of the NavoiFIEZ is the administrative board. Operational management of the NavoiFIEZ is carried out by the directorate, incorporated as the State Unitary enterprise.

The area of the NavoiFIEZ is 564,000 hectares. The operation period of the NavoiFIEZ is 30 years, but this term can be extended in the future. During the operation period of the FIEZ, a wide range of benefits and preferences are provided.

SPECIAL TAX REGIME

Enterprises in the NavoiFIEZ are exempted from land tax, property tax, income tax, social infrastructure development tax and unified tax payment (for small enterprises), as well as compulsory contributions to the republican road fund and off-budget republican school fund.

These tax preferences are available depending on the volume of foreign direct investments:

- From EUR 3–10 million: for seven years
- From EUR 10–30 million: for ten years. For the following five years, rates of income tax and unified tax payment are fixed at the level of 50% of current rates.
- More than EUR 30 million: for 15 years. For the following ten years, rates of income tax and unified tax payment are fixed at the level of 50% of current rates.

Any Uzbek tax law provisions which disadvantage tax payers shall not be applied to business entities registered in the NavoiFIEZ, with the exception of acts regulating the taxation of excisable goods.

Special customs regime enterprises registered in the NavoiFIEZ are exempted from customs payments for imported equipment, as well as for raw materials, materials and component parts for the production of exportable goods for the entire period of operation of the free industrial economic zone.

Equipment, raw materials, materials and component parts for the production of exportable goods, being imported into the territory of NavoiFIEZ by residents of the free industrial economic zone (regardless of the country of origin) shall be registered in the customs regime as belonging to a free customs zone. In addition, customs payments (excluding customs clearance duties) and measures of economic policy shall not apply to goods imported for production needs.

SPECIAL CURRENCY REGIME

Business entities registered in the NavoiFIEZ are permitted to exercise payments in foreign currencies within the FIEZ in accordance with the agreements and contracts concluded between them, as well as to pay in hard currency for the supply of goods, works and services performed by other business entities which are residents of the Republic of Uzbekistan.

Visa regime individuals involved in the business and members of their families, foreign citizens and stateless persons recruited for work within the NavoiFIEZ, shall enjoy a simplified regime governing entrance, departure, stay and employment. The issuance and extension of validity for visa documents and temporary registration in the Republic of Uzbekistan, as well as permission to recruit a foreign workforce and work permits for participants of the NavoiFIEZ shall be undertaken without any state duties and other payments. Entrance visas for foreign citizens recruited for work within the NavoiFIEZ are issued based on the written request of the directorate of the NavoiFIEZ and submitted to the Ministry of Foreign affairs of the Republic of Uzbekistan to be considered during the establishment period, but not more than two business days from the date of submission. If the Republic of Uzbekistan provides a different, more favourable regime for the provision of visas for citizens of certain countries than the one stipulated by these regulations, the more favourable regime shall be applied.

ANGREN SPECIAL INDUSTRIAL ZONE

On 13 December 2012, in accordance with a decree of the president of the Republic of Uzbekistan the Angren special industrial zone (SIZ) was established in the Tashkent region.

Offering foreign and local investors favourable conditions and a wide range of opportunities for doing business, the Angren SIZ provides all the necessary conditions for the establishment of modern high-tech and competitive production facilities.

The proximity of the Angren SIZ to Tashkent, the capital of Uzbekistan, makes the location attractive for investors. The body which coordinates and regulates the activity of the Angren SIZ is the administrative board. Operational management of the Angren SIZ is carried out by the directorate, incorporated as the State Unitary enterprise.

The area of the Angren SIZ is 187.5 hectares. Its period of operation is 30 years, but this term can be extended in the future. During the SIZ operation period, a wide range of benefits and preferences are provided. A special tax regime and customs preferences apply within the SIZ territory and residents are exempted from:

- Income tax, property tax for legal entities, social infrastructure development tax and unified tax for small businesses, as well as compulsory contributions to the republican road fund
- Customs payments (except customs clearance duties) for equipment, components and materials that are not produced in the country, imported into the Angren SIZ for the implementation of projects in line with the list approved by the Cabinet of Ministers.

The aforementioned tax exemptions are provided from three to seven years according to the amount of the investment:

- From USD 300,000–3,000,000: for three years
- From USD 3–10 million: for five years
- More than USD 10 million: for seven years.

The main criteria for the selection of business entities allowed residence status within the Angren SIZ include the following:

- For the creation of modern manufacturing facilities or the carrying out of an extensive modernisation of existing facilities, equipping them with high-tech equipment and technologies
- Where there is compliance of a company's profile with the main objectives of the Angren SIZ, excluding enterprises engaged in mining and primary processing of natural raw materials
- Where there has been an investment of stakeholders' own funds and loans taken out by them without receiving a government guarantee from the Republic of Uzbekistan
- For the phased establishment of manufacturing facilities with a full production cycle to produce import-substituting and export-oriented competitive products of high demand in the market
- Where reinvestment into the company is made of at least 50% of the proceeds generated from the tax preferential treatment during its effective term.

The certificate issued to a resident of the Angren SIZ is the evidence of its right to exercise a special tax regime and customs preferences within the Angren SIZ.

Although this new industrial zone has been established quite recently, some agreements to set up large industries have already been made here. For example, a sugar plant with a 1000 daily tonnes capacity is planned to be built here. Singapore companies Welton International Enterprises Pte Ltd, Kito Investment Pte Ltd and the Austrian company SeidNandelsgesellschaftm.b.h. will become the partners of the Uzbek side in the implementation of the project, whose total cost will exceed USD 108.45 million. Another project within the zone aims to create a modern production process for base engine oils using a complete technological cycle of collection and the recycling of waste industrial oils. This will be set up with the participation of Bulgarian investors. Under current plans, the investors will invest USD 15 million to design and construct the works, which will deliver and install modern technological equipment capable of processing up to 43,000 tonnes of waste industrial oil per year to produce base oils.

5 – LABOUR

The employment of both nationals and foreign citizens in Uzbekistan is regulated by the Labour Code.

Labour relations are regulated by individual employment contracts and often also by collective agreements. Employment contracts must meet the standards prescribed by Uzbek law. Companies may hire employees directly, without using employment or recruitment agencies.

EMPLOYMENT

JOB REGISTRATION BOOKS

Uzbek nationals must provide an employer with a job registration book containing their personal details and a record of their working history, including current employment details. The job registration book is issued for the purpose of determining the amount to be paid from the state's Social Insurance Fund for an employee's temporary illness or disability and for determining an employee's rights to a state pension. Where an employee does not have a job registration book, the employer is obliged to supply a new one within five days of the person commencing employment.

PERIOD OF PROBATION

An employment contract may include a period of probation which cannot exceed three months.

MINIMUM WAGE

As of 1 January 2015, the minimum monthly wage was UZS 118 400 and as of 1 January 2016 minimum wage become UZS 130 240. The government usually increases the minimum wage several times per year.

WORKING WEEK

The regular working week is 40 hours. Overtime work may be allowed only with the employee's consent. There are certain categories of work where overtime work is not permissible. Overtime work may not exceed four hours within two days or exceed 120 hours within one year. Overtime work must be compensated for at a rate of at least 200% of the employee's regular wage.

HOLIDAYS AND VACATIONS

Uzbekistan has nine official public holidays. The minimum paid annual leave is 15 working days, at least 12 days of which must be used by the employee at one single time.

SICK LEAVE

Employees are required to submit a medical certificate for any absence after their recovery and return to work. Generally, employees cannot be terminated by their employer while absent on sick leave and are entitled to receive sick leave compensation. Sick leave compensation is paid by the employer, but is excluded from the employer's taxable income. Sick leave compensation must be paid to an employee in the event of his/her illness, injury and in cases where an employee is caring for a sick family member, as well as in some other instances. In cases of a labour-related injury or occupational disease or other special qualification of the employee, the amount of sick leave compensation is 100% of the employee's average earnings. In other cases, sick leave compensation ranges between 60% and 80% of an employee's average earnings, depending on the grounds for the sick leave and employment seniority.

MATERNITY LEAVE

Maternity leave is paid for a period of no less than 70 days prior to the birth and 56 days following the birth (up to 70 days in certain cases). Maternity leave is paid for by the employer at the employee's normal salary level.

COST OF EMPLOYMENT

Under the mandatory Social Fund contributions, employees and employers are required to pay a unified social tax at a rate of 25%.

FOREIGN WORKERS IN UZBEKISTAN

Companies with foreign employees in Uzbekistan must obtain a foreign work permit from the Agency on Foreign Labour Migration Issues (the 'Agency').

The foreign work permit authorises a company to engage a foreign workforce. A company holding a permit must also obtain a work permit confirmation from the Agency for each foreign employee. The confirmation allows a specific foreign employee to work in Uzbekistan.

The Agency is obliged to issue a foreign work permit within 30 days from the date of submission of all necessary documents. The procedure for issuing a work confirmation for foreign employees is similar to the procedure for obtaining foreign work permits. A foreign work permit and/or employee's work permit confirmation are valid for no more than one year.

The fees for a foreign work permit and for an employee's work permit confirmation are both ten times the minimum monthly wage. Foreigners working in representative offices are excluded from the foreign work permit and work permit confirmation requirements. However, each foreigner working in a representative office is required to obtain an individual accreditation card from the Ministry of Foreign Economic Relations, Investments and Trade. In practice, it is difficult to accredit more than three persons as foreign employees of a representative office.
